

TEESQUARE envisions igniting an educational revolution in Pakistan by creating an equal opportunity to quality education.

We have developed a digital learning platform - TEAM TALEEM that talks to the learner through videos and listen to their inputs through worksheets. It is designed to be the primary source of early education inculcating functional literacy & numeracy skills.

The way it is, the product is itself something but the human that bring it to us, that human is actually a gateway, when you met the human, you develop a trust & this is a feeling that comes naturally to you. I was not a fan of technology at that time, I'm still not a complete fan. But I have seen it happening, I have seen the excitement in people who have done this & how they are learning with so much eagerness. I must say, due to your honesty, sincerity & patience, today we are stand here with confidence that MA this has been done. I really wanted to take this to Lyari's school, others places IA.

A capable person not used or trained properly. Here, in our country this is a much deeper problem. With this program, they are trying to balance some of this wrong, so that with some sincerity we can say we tried for our people, our country. My DUA is that this leads to many young people getting educated and being given some hope for their future.
